

COLLEGE WOMEN PLAN MERGER OF TWO SOCIETIES

Delegates Also Visit Mrs. Harding at White House.

Three propositions of importance to college women of the country developed at yesterday's sessions of the National Association of Collegiate Alumnae, held in the Washington Hotel.

The affiliation of the Southern Association of College Women was asked formally.

Each of the 300 women in convention was presented in person to the First Lady of the Land at the White House.

The coming reception to Madame Curie and its surrounding details were announced.

After nearly fifteen years of endeavor on the part of many women whose desire was to see the amalgamation of the only two associations of college women of America, the wish came nearer realization than ever yesterday when the National Association asked the Southern body to become allied with it. It is expected that the latter will reply to the invitation today.

The plans for annexation propose that the Southern Association not lose its own identity, but, with its 1,200 members, become one of the two proposed sections of the larger body.

Mrs. Harding Receives.

Mrs. Harding at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the East Room of the White House, received individually the members of both National and Southern associations. Garbed in simple afternoon attire of grey, the Executive Mansion's new chaperone mingled with the throng of conventionites in an informal manner, sharing their explorations of the south portico and the remainder of the Executive Mansion, which had been declared an "open house" for the hour. Mrs. Harding spoke familiarly with several of the guests, whom she had met at previous assemblages.

Madame Curie, it was decided, will be welcomed by the New York branch of the National Association in Carnegie Hall, New York City, May 15, and presented with a gram of radium, the gift of Americans, by Mrs. Learned Hand, president of the branch.

While the date of the presentation may be only tentative, it was reported that all other plans for the affair, which promises to be an immense demonstration of American appreciation to the scientist, who gave so much to medical research, have been perfected.

Scholarship Report.

The accomplishments of the national body, through the State and county sections, reports said, included the output of amounts aggregating several hundred thousand dollars for scholarships.

In the western departments, particularly, a great many loans and free scholarships had been awarded girls who were unable to meet in entirety their college expenses. The reports of Duluth and St. Paul, Minn., and districts of Southern California were greeted with cheers following their statements on welfare, educational and artistic expenditures.

Luncheon Speakers.

At a luncheon in the convention hotel yesterday noon, the international phase of the association was dwelt upon by several speakers, including Mrs. Herbert Hoover, chairman of the hospitality committee for California; Dean Ada Comstock, of Smith College; Dr. M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr College, and Mrs. Marvin Rosenberry, national president of the organization.

Meetings before noon today will be of special groups, and Dr. Emilie W. McVea, president of Sweetbriar College, will preside at a round table discussion this afternoon. A joint dinner of the National and Southern organizations will be held tonight.

Decision as to the advisability of purchasing the property of the local City Club probably will be given with the results of the conferences of the special committees.

Three More Americans Murdered in Mexico

Three more Americans have been killed in Mexico, the State Department was advised yesterday. The murdered men were Edward Davis, an Arizona miner; John C. Quinn, a sailor from Jamaica Plain, Mass., and A. B. Bridges, a Galveston, Texas, negro.

Representations to the Mexican government have been made by the State Department, demanding the murderers be apprehended and punished.

Davis was murdered by robbers at a mining camp near Guaymas, in the state of Sonora. Bridges, the caretaker of an American plantation in the state of Vera Cruz, was killed by four bandits. Quinn, a sailor on the American schooner Thomas E. Wood, was shot by a Mexican policeman in Tampico when the policeman intervened in a fight between Quinn and several other sailors.

To Hold Convention.

Plans are under way to hold a national convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. Raymond A. Creelman, representative of Judge Robert S. Marx, national president of the organization, is planning the program.

RHEUMATISM Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly known as uric acid deposits, are dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every attack of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success.

After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. People's Drug Stores have been appointed agents for Allen's Rheumatism Cure. He will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

CONSIDERS POSTAL RETIREMENT ACT

Hays May Reverse Ruling of Burleson on Blanket Order.

Whether the blanket order of former Postmaster General Burleson, retiring postal employees as soon as they reach retirement age as set by the civil service retirement act, regardless of their efficiency or desire to continue in the service, is to be modified, is receiving the consideration of Postmaster General Hays.

Mr. Hays said yesterday that he had six cases involving requests from employees to continue in service for two additional years after reaching retirement age, which must be decided. He would not indicate what his decision would be, but said he intended to make a thorough investigation before coming to a conclusion.

The civil service retirement act provides that employees who, upon reaching the age of retirement, desire to continue in the government service may do so for three periods of two years each, provided they secure a certificate of efficiency from their immediate superiors.

Mr. Burleson, however, ruled that employees of the Postoffice Department would be retired immediately upon reaching the retirement age without the privilege of continuing in the service. Many protests were made by postal employees all over the country, but the ruling still stands.

Federal Employees Club To Hold Minstrel Show

Fifty dancers, singers and musicians of the Federal Employees' Amusement Club and Recreation Committee of the Union, will present a Minstrel Show at the Belasco Theatre Sunday night.

Headed by the cast of male performers is William I. Slaymaker, known as the reincarnation of "Honey Boy" Evans of minstrel fame. Slaymaker's ability as a black-face comedian is well-known locally. William H. Bright, a monologue on difficulties of income tax preparation.

Proceeds of the show will go to the Home fund of the big Washington local union. Mrs. Flora B. Wood, of the War Risk Bureau, is chairman of the Recreation Committee and John H. Kettner, also of War Risk, is president of the Federal Employees' Union.

Women Send Protest On Labor Conditions

The professional and business members of the Women's City Club, at a meeting held in the clubhouses, last night, protested by resolution against the alleged discrimination of the government in promotion and pay of women employees.

Accusations, directed specifically at the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, charged that the male members of the organization were favored to the detriment of the female employees. The club will be asked to foster the resolution, offered by Miss L. M. Berrien, at its next session. Courtney Dinwiddie, head of the National Child Health Council, spoke on "Organization." Dr. Edith Coale presided.

Revival in Home Building Claimed

Extremely Optimistic Note Struck at Lumber Dealers' Congress.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Optimism marked the conference of 300 members of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association today at the Congress Hotel, where the American Lumber Congress is being held.

The manufacturers, who said they saw signs of a revival in the industry, are here to get together and will move at 5:15 p. m. sharp, and proceed from Calvert Hall across the street into the Cathedral.

At the hour for the beginning of the funeral a hush will fall over the State while its citizens for one minute pay silent tribute to the memory of the prelate citizen.

A cablegram of high tribute has been received from American Ambassadors to Italy, Bolivia, Uruguay and Johnson. The convention of the National Federation of Ukrainian Jews, in session here, praised the Cardinal as a friend of the Jewish people. The Baltimore Press Club, of which he has long been a member, adopted appropriate resolutions on the death of the Cardinal.

VATICAN MESSAGE LAUDS CHARACTER OF LATE CARDINAL

Pope Says Prelate's Work Made Mark in Growth Of America.

BALTIMORE, March 30.—In a message from Rome today Pope Benedict XV extols the work and character of James Cardinal Gibbons. The Pope's tribute reads: "The death of our dearest brother, the Cardinal Archbishop of Baltimore, is a great grief, not only for his diocese and his country, but also for the whole church. Cardinal Gibbons was the living testimony of the magnificent development and the powerful organization which the Catholic church has attained in his country, and for this reason, he more than anybody else, could show to the people marvelous fruits that the church can produce for the good of mankind, even in our time and notwithstanding numerous difficulties."

Cardinal Gibbons, excellent priest, learned master, vigilant pastor, was also an exemplary citizen, and by the example of preaching of Christian virtues in private as well as in public life he contributed efficaciously to the sound progress of his great country. His memory, therefore, must be cherished with the profound veneration not only by Catholics but also by every citizen of the United States of America."

MONDELL ASSERTS EXISTING LAW WILL SOLVE RAIL TANGLE

Says No New Legislation Needed to Combat Present Problems.

Solution of the railroad problem can be brought about by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Labor Board without the enactment of any legislation, in the opinion of Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, Republican leader of the House.

Representative Mondell expressed himself yesterday as believing that the machinery under the present transportation act is entirely adequate to deal with the situation, and that Congress will not be called upon to amend the present law in any important particular.

Cumulus Have Same View.

His view accords with that of Senator Cummins, of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, who, in proposing an investigation by his committee of the railroad situation has in view a full inquiry designed to furnish complete information as to the causes of the present situation to the public and to facilitate an adjustment under the agencies now existing.

It is the understanding that President Harding has no intention of dealing with the railroad situation in his message to Congress at the forthcoming session. It is known, however, that he intends to give the matter thorough study and will on a later date present his views to Congress, embodying any recommendation that in his opinion may be advisable.
